"Conquer Heights, Embrace the Journey – Everest Base Camp Awaits!"

Your trek to Everest Base Camp starts with an awe-inspiring 45-minute flight from Kathmandu to Lukla. Lukla (2,840m/9,317 ft) is the starting and endpoint of the trek.

After getting off the flight at the Lukla Airport, the long hike in the Khumbu Region begins, and your destination for this day is Phakding. The next day will take you into the Sagarmatha National Park to Namche Bazaar, the gateway to Mount Everest. You will acclimatize for a day in Namche.

After acclimation for a day, you will leave Namche Bazaar and continue your journey by heading to Tengboche - another Khumbu region gem. The way from Namche to Tengboche goes up and down, and from the path, you will get to savor the views of Nuptse, Lhotse, and more. You will spend the night at Tengboche.

The following morning, you will collect yourself and continue your journey by trekking to Dingboche (4410m/14470ft), from where we can see the entire Himalayan ranges in the Khumbu region. You will head to Dingboche from Tengboche.

Pangboche Monastery, built in the 16th Century, lies on the way to Diboche. In the Dingboche region, you will see barley, buckwheat, and potato fields surrounded by stone walls to protect them from wind and wild animals. By reaching Dingboche, you will have gained a high altitude, and once more, it is time for acclimatization.

After spending a day at Dingboche, you will trek to Lobuche (4,940m/16,210 ft) walking alongside the Khumbu Glacier, but you start on the trail that ascends to the Pheriche village. As you move forward, you will enjoy the views of Pumori, Lingtren, and Khumbutse, and arrive at Lobuche. You will spend that night at Lobuche.

Itinerary

Day 1: Flight from Kathmandu/Manthali to Lukla. Trek to Phakding (2,650m / 8,562ft)

In peak trek seasons (March, April, May, Sept, October, and November), Lukla flights from Tribhuvan International Airport (TIA) may be rerouted to Manthali Airport due to traffic congestion. So, during these months, our guide will pick you up from your hotel at around 12:30 am for a five-hour drive to Manthali. From Manthali, you will take a 20-minute flight to Lukla. In other months (December, January, February, June, July, and August), you will take a 40-minute flight to Lukla from Kathmandu.

If you want to avoid the drive to Manthali from Kathmandu, you can book a helicopter to Lukla. However, it will cost you around 550 USD extra, provided five persons share the cost.

Our journey to EBC, which begins from Lukla, will be very exciting, as it will be our 1st day of the trek. We will leave Lukla and trek through Chaurikharka village and descend to Dudhkoshi Ghat (2,530m / 8,300ft) until we reach Phakding. Today's trek will be short and enjoyable as we will also be acclimatizing. We can spend our spare time visiting local monasteries (like Rimishung Monastery) and preparing ourselves for a long trek the next day.

Day 2: Trek from Phakding (2,650m / 8,562ft) to Namche Bazaar (3,440m / 11,285ft)

We will wake up in the morning and continue trekking along the northern bank of the Dudh Koshi River while enjoying the majestic views and crossing many suspension bridges over the Dudh Koshi River, including the Hillary Suspension Bridge. As we move forward, we arrive at the Sagarmatha National Park check post, where we will have our permits registered and then climb up through the dense forests. From this forest, we will catch the first sight of Mt. Everest. Trekking further, we will arrive at Namche Bazaar- the gateway to Everest.

Day 3: Rest day and acclimatization at Namche Bazaar

It is time to acclimatize at Namche Bazaar itself. We recommend you to explore Namche Bazaar, as this town hosts numerous wifi-linked cafes and restaurants, souvenirs, and gear shops. We have several hiking options - such as visiting Hillary School, Sherpa settlement, Syangboche Airport, and yak farms. If you are passionate about Everest, you should not miss hiking up to Everest View Hotel, from where you can catch the breathtaking views of Mt. Everest.

Day 4: Trek from Namche (3,440m / 11,285ft) to Tengboche/ Deboche (3,855m / 12,850ft)

This day we will leave Namche and head to Tengboche. The trail is full of ups and downs and passes through forests, making the trek challenging, but the views you get to enjoy are truly rewarding. If you are lucky, you might also spot musk deer, pheasants, and Himalayan Thars. Near the end of the trek, you will find yourself descending to Phunki Thenga Village, but after leaving Phunki Thenga, you will be ascending continuously until you reach Tengboche. Tengboche looks like handcrafted natural beauty, which opens up the stunning views of Everest, Nuptse, Lhotse, and Ama Dablam. This day also provides you the chance to see the biggest Buddhist monastery in the Khumbu Region - the Tengboche Monastery. We will be spending the night at Deboche.

Day 5: Trek from Tengboche (3,855m / 12,850ft) to Dingboche (4,360m / 14,290ft) Itinerary

After breakfast, we will be heading to Dingboche. On the way, we will be passing many Chortens, mani walls, and several small villages - including Pangboche, from where you can enjoy the stunning views of Mt. Ama Dablam. Throughout the trek, you will be gaining altitude, and as you move nearer to Dingboche, you can see fields surrounded by stone walls to protect crops. In this hostile environment, the locals manage to grow barley, buckwheat, and potatoes this way. As the night falls, you will stay at Hotel Good Luck in Dingboche.

Day 6: Rest day and acclimatization at Dingboche

It is time for acclimatization, once more. By reaching Dingboche, we will have gained considerable altitude, and our body needs time to adjust to the thin air and high altitude. However, to remain busy, we will be walking up the ridge above Dingboche to get spectacular views of mountains - Ama Dablam, Island Peak, Cho Oyu, & Makalu.

Day 7: Trek from Dingboche (4,360m / 14,290ft) to Lobuche (4,930m / 16,175ft)

The trek to Lobuche will start on the trail that leads to a short uphill near the ridge above Pheriche Village. You will soon find yourself moving alongside the Khumbu Glacier as the hike takes you higher to the Thukla Hills. At the Thukla Hills, you will see the memorial statues of climbers who passed away in this region. Continuing our trek forward, we reach Lobuche, our destination for that day.

Day 8: Trek from Lobuche (4,930m / 16,175ft) to EBC (5,364m / 17,598ft) and back to Gorak Shep (5,185m / 17,010ft)

This is an extraordinary day as we will be summiting Base Camp. At first, we will be trekking through the lateral moraine of the Khumbu Glacier and arrive at the beautiful Gorak Shep Village - a village surrounded by snow-capped mountains. We leave our belongings at Gorak Shep and hike up to the Base Camp. This is the closest you can ever get to the highest mountain in the world. You will savor the incredible views from EBC, take pictures of the surroundings, reflect on the memories and your achievements, and then head back to Gorak Shep. Along the way, you will also see the highest glacier in the world - the Khumbu Glacier.

Day 9: Hike to Kala Patthar (5,555m / 18,208ft) viewpoint, trek to Gorak Shep then to Pheriche (4,250m/13,945ft)

We will be waking early in the morning at Gorak Shep and hiking to Kala Patthar to view the sunrise at Mt. Everest and other peaks. Believe us - you have never seen anything as awe-inspiring as the early sunshine covering Mt. Everest anywhere else. After spending some time at the viewpoint, we will trek back to Gorak Shep for breakfast. We will rest for a bit and start our trek to Pheriche, our destination for the day.

Day 10: Trek from Pheriche (4,250m / 13,945ft) to Tengboche (3,855m / 12,850ft)

After a good night's sleep at Pheriche, we wake up early in the morning, have breakfast, and then trek down towards Tengboche. Our way passes through the rhododendron forests across the Imja Khola bridge, through the juniper forest, and finally to Tengboche, where we will be spending our night.

Day 11: Trek from Tengboche (3,855m / 12,850ft) to Namche Bazaar (3,440m / 11,285ft)

After finishing breakfast at Tengboche early in the morning, we head back to Namche Bazaar. The trail takes us through forests full of high-altitude wildlife like pheasants, musk deer, mountain goats, and even snow leopards. Along your path, you will also see numerous prayer flags, chortens, the backside of Lhotse, and Mt. Everest. After arriving at Namche Bazaar, we will head to our lodges and rest as the trek for this day is over.

Day 12: Trek from Namche Bazaar (3,440m / 11,285ft) to Phakding (2,650m / 8,690ft)

Today's trek will be a short one as we head to Phakding, following the banks of the Dudh Koshi River and crossing many suspension bridges that lie on the way. After passing through several forests and small villages, we will finally reach Phakding. We will stay at Phakding for the night.

Day 13: Trek from Phakding (2,650m / 8,690ft) to Lukla (2,850m / 9,350ft)

Yet another short trek day that also marks the end of our trekking. We start by making a return down the Dudh Koshi valley. The route is mostly gentle uphill up to Kusum Stream, but before reaching Lukla, the trail heads steeply up to the west and takes us to Toktok. From here, the views will be entirely different, and we will spend some time savoring those views. We will continue until we reach Lukla. This will be our last day of trekking, and we will be resting at Lukla at night

Day 14: Fly back to Kathmandu/ Manthali from Lukla (2,850m / 9,350ft)

This is the last of your trek. After breakfast, you will fly back to Kathmandu or Manthali, depending on the trekking season. If you are trekking in peak seasons (March, April, May, Sept, October, and November), from Lukla, you will take a 20-minute flight to Manthali Airport, and we will then drive you to Kathmandu from Manthali. In other months (December, January, February, June, July, and August), you will take the 40-minute flight back to Kathmandu.

You can book a helicopter from Lukla to Kathmandu to avoid the five-hour-long drive from Manthali to Kathmandu. However, it will cost around 500 USD extra, provided you share your helicopter with four others.

We hope your flight will be a relaxing one and provide you some time to appreciate your achievement and fall back on your memories. After arriving in Kathmandu, you can return to your hotel. How you spend the rest of the day is entirely up to you.
